DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-16, drawn to a device comprising a hollow member having an open end for insertion of a finger, classified in class 424, subclass 401.
- II. Claims 17-20, drawn to a disposable substrate for applying a lip treatment composition, classified in class 424, subclass 064.
- III. Claims 21-22, drawn to a packaged disposable product, classified in class 424, subclass 400.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the different inventions have materially different designs. Invention I is drawn to a device to worn on a finger, whereas Invention II does not require an opening for the insertion of a finger.

Inventions I and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the different inventions have materially different designs. Invention I is drawn to a device to be worn on a finger, whereas, Invention III is drawn to a packaged substrate.

Inventions II and III are related as mutually exclusive species in an intermediate-final product relationship. Distinctness is proven for claims in this relationship if the intermediate product is useful to make other than the final product, and the species are patentably distinct (MPEP § 806.05(j)). In the instant case, the intermediate product is deemed to be useful as a lip treatment composition carrier and the inventions are deemed patentably distinct because there is nothing on this record to show them to be obvious variants.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction were not required because the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

If Invention I is elected, Applicant is further required to elect from the following patentably distinct species of compositions:

- a. breathe freshening agents, flavoring agent, or dental agent
- b. lip care formulation comprising dimethicone, oxybenzone and padimate O
- c. allantoin and camphor, menthol or phenol
- d. dimethicone or petrolatum and at least one sun-screening agent
- e. a sun-screening agent and a skin protecting agent
- f. an analgesic and a skin-protecting agent

The species are independent or distinct because they provide materially different compositions having different effects, modes of operation and designs.

If Invention II is elected, Applicant is further required to elect from the following patentably distinct species of compositions:

- a. a breath freshening agent, a flavoring agent, or a dental agent
- b. a sun-screening agent, a skin protecting agent or an analgesic

The species are independent or distinct because they provide materially different compositions have different effects, modes of operation and designs.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, Claims 1 and 17 are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species.
